combines biblical insights with practical survival tactics, offering readers the tools they need to protect themselves and their loved ones during crises.

The Bible has told us that we are in a crisis, and this is just the beginning. Many people think that Artificial Intelligence will make the world better. But most are overlooking the impact it will have on society. Thousands of people have been laid off, and it is not improving.

This will trigger a catastrophic chain of events. Thousands of people will be out of work without getting another one. This, in turn, will make these people engage in violence, demonstrations, and crime just to put food on their table.

Thankfully, this simple system helps you learn how to get food, water, and supplies for your family during such crises. The government doesn't want you to know these things, but the book will show you how to follow during the most dangerous times.
